I guess we can have lunch here.
No, I'm perfectly fine!
It's pretty wobbly, isn't it?
At the workshop, I generally get two extra days off every month. Since Reszurre can use magic, I figured it would be a good idea for her to replenish her internal magical reserves. And so, we decided to use those days to rest and recharge at a place abundant with mana not too far from the workshop.
WHOOSH
hello!
Mr. Apothecary, I...
Love this place and the people here... I want to stay here forever...
A few months ago, I couldn't have even imagined a scene like this. As I looked at her face, I knew she had recovered enough to return to her home as soon as her memories came back. And then my duties would be over. I suppose it's about time for us to talk about my intentions...
